

Singing God's Love

קִסְדֵי יְהוָה עוֹלָם אֲשִׁירָה

Chasdei Adonai olam ashira

I will sing forth from the hidden infinite, the loving-kindnesses of God. (Psalm 89:2)

Chant is the practice of calling forth hidden truths and bringing them into awareness and manifestation through voice and intention. I don't sing about those truths... I sing those truths into being. With the power of my voice and the wholeheartedness of my intention, I call forth the beauty that is hidden within existence. As that beauty sings itself through me, I open myself as a channel, as a vessel, as a vehicle for the awareness of God's presence in the world.

The word Olam means the infinite both in Time and Space. And it also means the Hidden or Concealed. The power of our Song reaches through the cracks of Time and Space and calls forth the hidden dimension of the Infinite, which has been waiting all along. The Song opens our eyes to the manifestations of God's Love that surround us — evidence of the Infinite pouring itself into and throughout our finite world.
